CHURCH CITY CANVASS

RELIGIOUS BODIES OF GLENDALE TO LIST NON-CHURCH GOING PEOPLE

"At a recent meeting of members of the Presbyterian church," said W. J. Clendenin, of Orange street, a prominent member of the Cedar street organization, "it was determined to do something to increase church attendance and to establish Sunday schools in centers where no such institution exists and where there are sufficient people to justify the organization of such an institution."

"Those of us in the Presbyterian church who have taken this matter in hand realize that there are many non-church-going families in Glendale, who yet have had at some time or other some church affiliation. We resolved to handle the matter in a systematic manner and as a first step called on the other denominations to help us."

The result of our efforts has been that the committee, which consists of Mr. Howe, Mr. Nichols, Mr. Shumaker, T. W. Preston, Mr. McIver, Dr. McPherson, Mr. Ogg and Mr. Colvin, resolved to call in the ladies to our aid. We know that where such a delicate matter as calling on families who do not happen to go to church temporarily or who have not been in church for one reason or another during a long time is concerned it is best to enlist the ladies. We are therefore now occupied with a duty that requires a vast amount of tact and one in the course of which they are certain to meet with rebuffs. The names of this committee will be published after they have been selected.

"It will be the duty of this committee of ladies to ascertain:

1. The name of the family.
2. The number in the family.
3. The religious affiliation.
4. If no affiliation, which is their choice.

"To get their children to the Sunday school of that denomination.

"Having ascertained these particulars the ladies will report to the committee which will notify each church in the city of those who claim affiliation with that denomination and also with those who have children for Sunday school. In any district where there is a group of children not attending Sunday school it is proposed to establish some Sunday school there and thus to save the children at the outset."

"For this purpose the city has been divided into eleven districts and there will be thorough co-operation between the churches. The ladies will be selected from all the denominations and there will be a satisfactory representation of each. The main object the committee has in view is to reach the children. They are the hope of the coming generation of the world. If they are to be made of use to the world they must be taught while young. The early impression is worth all else. It never fades."

"At the same time it must be observed that the sole desire of this committee is to serve the Master. There is nothing denominational about this plan. Every church in the city will share in its benefits and the Kingdom of God will be advanced. When the eleven districts have been fully canvassed the results will be published; but no personal matters will be introduced nor names. The object is purely a religious one."

OLD STEAMBOAT DAYS

D. G. CROFTON, SR., TELLS OF EXCITING TIMES ON THE MISSISSIPPI

One of the most interesting visitors to Glendale of late days is David G. Crofton, Sr., father of D. G. Crofton, of the Crofton Shoe Shop, 341 Brand boulevard. Mr. Crofton, who recently came from St. Louis, Mo., to Glendale, on a visit to his son, was a steamboat steward in the old days when, as Mark Twain tells, the steamboat men were the heroes of the river from St. Louis to New Orleans.

"I remember the river in the old days before the war," said Mr. Crofton, "when the masts in the harbor and along the levee of St. Louis were like some mighty forest. At that time not only would the piers be crowded with freight but Main and Second streets were jammed with wagons of all kinds. Business was enormous."

"I sailed as steward on the Ruth and the Olive branch, three-deckers. These were two of the finest boats on the river. At that time a steward got from $150 to $200 a month according to his ability and the class of the boat on which he sailed. There were no competing railroads in those days and the river was the great highway for freight and passenger traffic. The companies were making money as from gold mine. All was life and activity."

"I met Mark Twain several times, in the days when he was a pilot. He was a striking and picturesque character and was well liked by everybody. I knew him when we were boys. Like most steamboat men of the old days I sailed on different boats at different times. The old Grand Turk was one of my vessels; so was the John Simons. We used to stop at Natchez, Vicksburg, Memphis and at various landings along the river. Business was lively and the scenes at the loading and unloading of the boats were full of human interest."

"I was steward on the Andy Johnson, when President Johnson, after whom the vessel was named, came to St. Louis on that boat. The Andy Johnson was escorted by two other steamboats and the three steamed abreast up the river to their docks. Nothing could have exceeded the interest of the people of the river towns in the races in which the steamboats of those old days indulged. Word would go up or down the river that certain boats would race and all along the river the people would be out to witness the boats steaming with all their capacity. In some cases when firewood would give out the very fittings of the boat would be chopped up to keep up steam. One instance is on record where a captain fed the furnaces with expensive hams which he was carrying as a cargo, rather than be beaten."

"I saw the Robert E. Lee, one of the finest boats on the river, steam into St. Louis on that memorable Fourth of July, when, under the competent direction of Captain Cannon, it steamed into St. Louis two hours ahead of its competitor, the Natchez. Those were stirring days. I was in Vicksburg when that city surrendered to the northern troops on July 4, 1865. I remember also a striking incident at Vicksburg. The City of Madison was lying at its wharf, with a cargo of percussion caps, when a soldier who was helping to unload dropped one of the boxes into the hold. Immediately there was a violent explosion. I was looking at the boat at the time from a little distance off and I plainly saw the whole upper part of the vessel lifted and hurled across the river. All those on board were killed with the exception of one man, Captain Sam Baird, who escaped in some miraculous manner."

"I have been greatly delighted with my visit to Glendale; delighted to visit my son and specially delighted with the agreeable climate and the beauty of this spot. I think I would be content to live here always; but I must return to St. Louis, where my other son and my daughters and my grandchildren reside. Probably I shall leave on Sunday."

GOES TO SAN DIEGO

Rev. E. H. Willisford leaves Saturday for a two weeks' stay at San Diego. During his absence Dr. Willisford will preach in San Diego and Chula Vista. While Mr. Willisford is away the following will supply the pulpit of the local Congregational church: Dr. Dana Bartlett the morning of July 16; Dr. Geo. F. Kennett, July 23; and Rev. Thos. Henry, July 30. Judge Frank S. Forbes of Los Angeles will speak the coming Sunday evening, his topic being "What Ought We to Do With Our Criminals."

FRENCH BREAK INTO GERMAN LINE

TROOPS OF REPUBLIC IN HARD FIGHTING IN CHAMPAGNE PENETRATE GERMAN DEFENSE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 13.—The French troops on the Champagne front managed to penetrate the German lines last night and were able to maintain themselves there. The fighting is still going on. The Germans launched a strong attack on the Argonne positions but were stopped by the curtain of fire. A few who managed to reach the entanglements were bayoneted.

WESTERN FRONT BATTLE IN SECOND STAGE

BRITISH FORCES NOW IN ATTEMPT TO REACH THE FORTIFIED KEY POSITION OF BAPAUME

LONDON, July 13.—The western front battle is entering its second phase. All the German first-line positions are now in the hands of the British and French. The British offensive is now approaching the crisis of battle, northwest of Albert, where the British are striving to gain two miles of an advance. This would put them in a favorable position to capture Bapaume, the key position of the German third line. The Germans brought up two army corps to resist the British thrusts against Bapaume.

PERSHING BELIEVES MEXICAN TROUBLE OVER

NATIVES ALONG LINE OF RAILWAY SHOW SYMPTOMS OF FRIENDLINESS TOWARD AMERICAN TROOPS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—Gen. Pershing believes that the troubles in Mexico are over as far as any chance of fighting between the American troops and the Mexican regular forces is concerned. In his report to the war department this morning he says that the natives along the railroad line are manifesting a much more friendly spirit toward the Americans.

SEVENTH ASSAULT ON VERDUN BEGINS

GERMAN ATTACK ON DEAD MAN'S HILL REPULSED ON 147TH DAY OF THE FIGHTING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 13.—The Germans made a massed attack on Dead Man's hill this morning. Advancing in long wave formations the Teutons pushed the attack with vigor but were forced to retire with severe losses. The bombardment continues with great violence. Special bombardment of Fort Souville is proceeding. This is the seventh grand assault on the Verdun defences since the battle began 147 days ago.

HEAT WAVE STRIKES EAST AND MIDDLE WEST

WHOLE COUNTRY FROM ATLANTIC TO THE ROCKIES IS SWELTERING IN RISE OF TEMPERATURE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—The whole of the eastern states from the Atlantic to the Rockies is sweltering in the extraordinary heat wave, which seems likely to last a week or more. Today was the hottest of the season in New York city. The thermometer registered 83 with a humidity almost as high.

SAYS TREVINO PLOTTED WITH VILLA

CARRANZISTAS ACCUSE FAMOUS GENERAL OF HAVING AGREED TO MAKE BANDIT PRESIDENT OF MEXICO

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, July 13.—It is now stated that Gen. Trevino was removed from his border command because he was too friendly with Villa and that he also instigated the attacks on the American soldiers at Parral. The Carranzista agents have furnished the United States officials with definite charges to the effect that Trevino had furnished ammunition to the rebels in their attacks against the New Mexico line and that it was the general's ultimate intention to make Villa president of Mexico.

BRITISH AMAZED AT GERMAN INCONSISTENCY

LORD CECIL SAYS GERMANY SANK UNARMED MERCHANT MEN AS LONG AS SHE HAD VESSELS TO SINK THEM

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, July 13.—The British are amazed at the German inconsistency in seeking to shelter their submarine Deutschland from British attacks on the plea that she is an unarmed merchantman. Lord Cecil points out that as long as the German had armed cruisers on the seas they sank British unarmed merchantmen without hesitation. "The active commerce destroyers, the Emden, the Karlsruhe and the Friedrich der Grosse sank unarmed merchantmen until the British sent them to the bottom," said Lord Cecil today. "What possible pretext can the Germans have for claiming immunity for the Deutschland?"

VISIT EXPOSITION PARK

TWENTY-NINE MEMBERS OF THE BIRD AND FLOWER CLUB GO ON EXCURSION

A party of 29 members and friends of the Bird and Flower club, which is the junior section of the Glendale Garden society, spent a jolly day yesterday at Exposition Park, Los Angeles. Mrs. H. C. Ackley was chief chaperone and leader. Mrs. Sarah McLean Mullin, wild flower expert, Mrs. H. D. Thaxter, Mrs. F. W. Kille, Miss Olive Williams, Mrs. H. Head, and other ladies assisted in looking after the young people. Luncheon was held in the picnic grounds, followed by ice cream provided by the Garden society. In the morning the mounted birds in the Museum were studied; during the afternoon interest was centered upon the wild flowers grown upon five acres of ground by Mr. Theodore Payne. Games were also indulged in, and altogether a right good time was enjoyed by everybody present.

Next Wednesday members and friends will meet at Headquarters, 1111 Broadway, at 2 o'clock sharp, where roll call will be held, after which a trip will be taken to some near-by Glendale spot. Children are advised to each bring a nickel, in case carfare is necessary.

Competition letters not handed in yesterday should be brought to next meeting, also competition letters describing the Exposition trip. No member is obligated to write these letters; they are purely voluntary; the four best receive honor buttons each week. Children having parts in the coming out-of-doors program will rehearse their parts next Wednesday.

No dues; no fees; weekly trips during summer vacation to near-by points of interest; the glad hand to all children and adults joining our ranks,—these are the principal features of the Bird and Flower club.—NANNOWOODS, President.

MIDWEEK HOUSE PARTY

An enjoyable midweek house party is being spent at the home of Miss Helen Reynolds, 200 Kenneth road, where ten of Miss Reynolds' friends are spending some pleasant days with that popular young lady. The time is passing merrily with picnic lunches in different parts of the Reynolds' property. The spacious lawn is beautifully lighted up at night and pleasant lawn parties are given. The girls spend part of their busy days tending. In keeping with the festive character of the party the house is beautifully decorated and the dainty hostess is winning further golden opinions from all by her hospitality and affability. The guests will bear away many charming memories of these halcyon days. Those composing the party are: The Misses Pearl Hunsberger, Barbara Mitchell, Lena Mae Brice, Eva Theude, Leone Brice, Bessie De Vere Carney, Helena Swartz, Marian Addison, Ireda Lindley, and the hostess, Helen Mae Reynolds.

RECEPTION TO GOVERNOR

Mr. J. H. Braly, who has been an active worker in the interests of progressive ideas, and is also a strong supporter of Gov. Johnson, as candidate for United States senator, attended an enthusiastic conference of the friends of the governor in the O. T. Johnson building, Los Angeles, Wednesday. At that meeting arrangements were made for a reception which will be tendered to Governor Johnson Saturday, July 15, at 3 p. m. in Blanchard hall, Los Angeles. The reception will be attended by Governor Johnson's friends and supporters of his candidature. Mr. Braly was appointed to make this gathering known to the people of Glendale and to invite all from this city who are interested in the election of Governor Johnson to the United States Senate.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC EXTENSION
The Chamber of Commerce Railway committee held an important meeting last evening, getting much encouragement from those paying in the last of their subscriptions, and are planning for the extension south along the Childs' tract line.

The balance subscribed should be in the hands of the committee not later than July 28, and those indebted will help very much by paying in before that time.

THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS

In every age of the world man has striven after happiness. To most men it represents the highest good. Yet men have missed the mark of happiness and found that in the pursuit thereof they have lost even the small amount of joy and pleasure they might have had. Happiness does not consist in that which is external. A man may struggle and strive and heap up to himself riches and add field to field and still be miserable.

Hoisting selfish, individualistic colors at the masthead men may sail comfortably down the stream of life, shutting their ears to the sounds of misery and their eyes to the sights of anguish that assail them from the banks. They may think that it is all right to sip the honey from the flowers as they pass and to leave the poison for the next comer; but all at once the river merges into the ocean, the waves dash round their frail craft unfit for such a mighty voyage as is before them and the billows rage and gales blow hard andwhelm them o'er.

Of all that they thought they had obtained of pleasure nothing remains. Happiness they find consists in something widely different from that which they so eagerly pursued. Happiness never can consist in something external. It is doubtful if any person is ever happier than when few possessions bring few cares.

Roman philosophy tells us that the man who has no money in his pocket can whistle at the robber. "Fortune," says Horace, "always delighting in some piece of savage cruelty, is now benign to me, now to another. I praise her while she stays with me; but if she shakes her speedy wings and leaves me I resign what she gave me, wrap myself up in my virtue and seek honest poverty without a dowry."

Shakespeare says that a peasant's quiet life is worth a "prince's delicacies; his viands sparkling in a golden cup; his body couched in a curious bed, when care, distrust and treason wait upon him."

Poet, sage, philosopher alike agree that happiness is not to be found in anything material. It is in the pursuit of some other's good; in the furthering of some other's fortunes and the healing of some other's wounds that true happiness is to be found. Happiness is always at our gates; while we are usually far from home in search of it. The wonderful Arabian Nights stories are full of the teaching that happiness is to be found in doing good. The folklore of the various countries teaches the same lesson and above all the teaching of Christianity is resplendent with the central idea of self sacrifice.

Not in anything very far away from the round of ordinary daily life; not in anything very hard or difficult of accomplishment is to be found the central happiness which glows in every kind heart and radiates its blessed influence around on all. Not in some distant land or among some alien race; but nearer and nearer every day to home are the joy and the peace that emanate from the heart itself.

There is happiness, the truest and the best, with its secret crowns and garlands of reward all bounded by the narrowest threshold. The golden city, the city of our dreams, is only to be found after long travel on the road of unselfishness and contentment; but as we go the songs of joy and gladness are heard more and more distinctly and find their echo in our hearts where they bring peace and satisfaction.

COLORADO RIVER DISTRICT

It is the hope and dream of San Diego to become some day the seaport of the great Colorado district. That is a region replete with riches in the shape of coal, timber and cattle that need only an outlet to the sea to bring unbounded wealth to the doors of those who get in at the beginning of the exploitation of those wonderful resources. The region is of intense interest. The forgotten people who left their record on the rocks, in the ruins of their irrigation system, in their wonderful cliff dwellings; the Spanish missions of the days of Balboa and Cortez; the Grand Canyon—all are of unbounded interest to the archaeologist, the historian and the geologist.

Further the district is of more than passing interest to those who are concerned with the development of the country. In the high valleys are billions of feet of valuable timber; in the mountains are extensive deposits of minerals. At many points within its border prosperous agricultural communities have been established.

The water afforded by the Colorado river and its tributaries prevents this immense region from becoming a desert. Large irrigation systems are being built; towns and communities are springing up on all sides. The great dams are making it possible to generate electric power on a large scale, for lighting, heating, and industrial uses and the transportation of freight and passengers.

Much exploratory work has been done by private persons and corporations, irrigation and power projects have been examined, railroad routes have been surveyed, and the Grand Canyon has been traversed many times since Major Powell made the pioneer trip. Now that the break in the river that diverted the water to the Salton basin, with the resultant destruction of property in Imperial valley, has been fixed up and the flow of the river restored to the Gulf of California, the way is clear to a full development of the wonderful Colorado basin with its possibilities of riches to all concerned in its development. The river is of vast importance to seven States and will have a preponderant influence in their development.

LIGHT—THE ULTIMATE TEST

Evil loves darkness. It will not come to the light because its deeds are evil. Ill deeds seek concealment. If one wishes to live a sweet, clear, innocent life one must keep in the light. The moment a man or a woman has to keep glancing sideways to see if people are looking something is wrong. If you have any doubt as to the rightness or wrongness of the thing you contemplate distrust it if

LITTLELANDS

John Steen last Monday morning purchased the half acre on Monte Vista boulevard belonging to Mr. Ed James. This was the place of the recent fire. Mr. and Mrs. James having received their fire insurance and sold out their belongings departed from Littlelands the first of the week and expect to make their future home in St. Louis, Missouri. It is to be hoped they will find a comfortable home among friends and be well taken care of in their old age.

Miss Hannah L. McKee, after a few days spent at her home in Littlelands, has returned to Pasadena, to be away some time with her friends, the Treat family.

Mrs. Dunning has as her guest her sister from Oregon, who arrived last Saturday.

Mr. E. Deming Smith, of San Francisco and Berkeley, was an over Sunday visitor at his place on Pine street this week.

Mr. Becker and his two sisters spent the week-end at their ranch on Stephen's Way. Mr. Becker has been on a ranch near Riverside for the past two years. Their place is for rent.

Miss Wakefield, who with her mother and grandmother is occupying Miss Hodge's house on Los Angeles street, has been spending some time visiting friends in Los Angeles.

The Board of Trade will hold its regular meeting at Bolton hall next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Every member urged to be present.

Ladies' Aid

The Ladies' Aid met at Manzanita park Thursday afternoon of last week. There were about 22 ladies present and an interesting and profitable meeting resulted. Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Knight were hostesses. The topic for the afternoon was "Deborah." Miss Gilbert was the leader and gave a paper on the life and character of Deborah, which her audience appreciated. Mrs. Shiras presented the Bible account of this remarkable character and Miss Lewis read the song of triumph of Deborah. Mrs. Van Battum gave a very interesting story taken from the Young People's Weekly. During the social hour refreshments were served.

Poultry Club

At the Poultry club meeting last Monday evening the subject of poultry houses as to their artistic or in artistic appearance, was introduced by Mrs. Woodruff. All agreed that it is the duty of everyone having poultry to endeavor to build the houses as low as possible and surround them with vines, shrubs or trees in such a manner that they may not be a blot upon the landscape. This matter is very important and should have the attention of everyone. The point was brought out and emphasized that no one has the ethical right to build or permit a building or any structure that will in any way mar the beauty of our valley. So far, in our community, not very many permanent structures have been built, but as we advance from the pioneer state, more and more these matters should receive our attention.

As had been announced at the previous meeting, Mrs. Woodruff read an article written by Henry H. Mumford on the care of poultry. Mumford claims that in rearing young chicks care is three times as important as breeding but in the egg yield breeding is three times as important as care. After the first few days it is almost impossible to overfeed young stock if they have sufficient range. Plentiful feeding helps to hasten the maturity of the chick. Feed corn, beef scrap and bran for quick growth. Don't force the breeders but force the layers. Corn and beef make for quick growth, early maturity and heavy laying. Breeders can be fed the same as layers for three months, then feed a mixed mash with twice as much grain and 10 per cent beef scrap or two times as much mash and grain and 5 per cent beef scrap. The per cent of grain used.

There was also some talk of the probable profit of combining the fur bearing rabbit business with that of poultry.

Last week Mrs. Cora E. Spaulding and mother, Mrs. Copper, of Amarillo, Texas, were the guests for a few days of Miss Zoe Gilbert of Sun set boulevard.

At the town meeting the Sunland people announced another barbecue of roast pork for next Saturday evening at the Monte Vista park, 25 cents per plate.

Voting as to the best athletic game for girls, basket ball gained seventy-nine votes and tennis fifty-two, at an eastern school for girls.

it makes you look to see if someone else is looking. Sinners love the dark.

Let the light of heaven fall upon your every deed. Open the windows and the doors of your soul and let the light in. Speak loud and clear. Whispering for which our mothers always did chide us is the sure sign of something underhand and dishonest. If you cannot call in anybody to see what you are doing then what you are doing is wrong. To be open and above board is the only true policy. No one ever regretted doing something to see which he could without fear call everybody to look. If a deed or a thought will not stand the light then it is evil and ought to be shunned.

Let the light of heaven fall upon your every deed. Open the windows and the doors of your soul and let the light in. Speak loud and clear. Whispering for which our mothers always did chide us is the sure sign of something underhand and dishonest.

If you cannot call in anybody to see what you are doing then what you are doing is wrong. To be open and above board is the only true policy.

No one ever regretted doing something to see which he could without fear call everybody to look. If a deed or a thought will not stand the light then it is evil and ought to be shunned.

SETTING COLORS IN WASH

It is an excellent plan, writes a reader of the Monitor, to shrink and set the color in wash fabrics before making them up. Cover the material, still in the folds, with strong salt water for half an hour. The bath tub is a good place to do this. Then, without wringing, hang on a line to dry. It will require little or no pressing when dry. Then there need be no concern about the material shrinking or spotting. At the same time the color is set.

Salt is splendid for setting plaids, grays, blacks and browns. Other solutions than salt are better for greens, purple, dark blue, pink and red. For green, dissolve a teaspoonful of alum in one gallon of tepid water, soak fabric well and wash in warm water. A tablespoonful of sugar of lead, dissolved in one gallon of water, will set lavender, purple, or dark blue. A tablespoonful of turpentine added to warm water, will set pink, blue and red.

To restore the color in a faded pink dress, boil a piece of red paper, ribbon or cheese cloth in water, add a little salt or turpentine, and rinse the dress in this when you get the right shade.

Another way to restore color is to have a bottle of dye and add a little to the rinse water or starch. Add the dye slowly until you get the exact shade, then starch or rinse your goods.

For tan stockings that have turned yellow, use a little brown dye in the rinse water—Christian Science Monitor.

COTTON STOCKINGS

"Don't scorn the cotton or lisle stocking when it comes in color," said a girl who had acquired the silk stocking habit. "Now that silk stockings are so much cheaper, I'll admit that it is pleasant to wear them to the exclusion of their humbler cousins; and I'll admit, too, that cotton stockings in plain white or black look heavier, coarser and less dainty. So, when I'm getting hose that are black or white, I get silk. But now that stockings in plain and varied colors are so much worn, I find that I can get quite as pretty ones in cotton or lisle as in silk, and they wear 100 per cent better, besides being much cheaper to start with. The black and white striped hose, solid blue and green ones, pale rose or lavender, and all the host of checks, clocks, and other designs, all come in good shades in the lisle or cotton, and for sport wear they are not only as good looking but much more appropriate. Go to the cotton stocking counter, and see if what I say isn't so."

Personals

Dr. C. I. Mills of St. Mark's church was in Santa Monica Wednesday attending the Summer Conference of Sunday School workers of the Episcopal church.

Mrs. John Frazer, 1452 Riverdale Drive, who has been residing in her summer cottage at Balboa beach, came up to Glendale this week for a few days' visit with her numerous friends.

Mrs. Hollenbeck, of Damasco Court, accompanied by her daughter Louise and by Miss Margaret Crawford, of N. Central avenue, went Thursday to Seal Beach, to the great celebration, with daylight fireworks.

The Beardstown (Ill.) Enterprise publishes a communication from Samuel Parker of this city, giving some interesting data in regard to high-water records on the Illinois river, notably at Beardstown, where Mr. Parker lived for several years, 1847 to 1855, and gave such attention to river and canal transportation as to be quoted today as good authority on these subjects.

The Rev. and Mrs. Mottern, of the First Lutheran church, accompanied by Elizabeth and Dorsey Mottern and by Mrs. Daugherty and Louise Daugherty, motored to Riverside Wednesday, where they were greeted by a number of friends who entertained them at dinner in the open air at Fairmount park. The day was spent in boating and other amusements. The party returned home late the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Packer, Donald H. Packer and Miss Doris Packer motored to Altadena Thursday, where they took part in a very pleasant family reunion, at the home of Mrs. Hurd, an aunt of Mrs. Packer's father. Mrs. Hurd is celebrating her 93rd birthday. She is a wonderful old lady retaining all her faculties, reading the newspapers and keeping alive to all the progress of the age. She has traveled extensively in Europe and throughout this country and is a perfect mine of interesting information.

Mr. H. R. Sibley, 1517 Penn St., who recently returned from Goffs, Cal., in connection with the tungsten mines there, is busy in Los Angeles and elsewhere, getting matters in shape for the thorough exploitation of the valuable mines there and on New York mountain in which the Big George company has an interest. In a short time Mr. Sibley will return to Goffs, when the small amount of stock that is to be sold has been disposed of. Mr. E. E. Fuller, president of the company, and Mr. C. B. Jacobs, the expert of the properties, are now on the ground getting matters in shape for the shipping of ore to the mill.

Robert Carmack, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Carmack, 715 N. Central avenue, Tropico, who was badly injured when struck by a P. E. car, which he tried to board while it was in motion, is doing well at the Mission hospital. The big toe on the right foot has been amputated and the other toes that were injured will probably be saved. The wheel of the car cut off all the nails of the toes on the right foot. The other foot was also badly bruised, but the doctors are confident they can restore the use of both his feet in time. Robert would probably have lost both feet had he not had presence of mind after the first wheel passed over them to move his feet by means of his hands from off the rails.

CONGREGATIONAL PICNIC

The First Congregational church and Sunday school will hold their annual picnic at Echo Park tomorrow, Friday, afternoon. Some will go by auto and others by the Pacific Electric. Arrangements are made to have various kinds of games and sports. A picnic supper will be served at five o'clock. The Sunday School will provide lemonade and coffee, free for all. All friends of the church and Sunday School are cordially invited to attend.

W. C. T. U.

The Glendale City Union will meet on Mrs. D. J. Graham's shady lawn, 235 East Third street, Friday afternoon, July 21st, at 2:00 o'clock. This is Loyal Temperance Legion Day in honor of Miss Anna Gordon, National President, also leader of the world's L. T. L. work for children, and Young Campaigners.

The children who took part in the Young Campaigners in 1914 campaign and all other children who will unite in this club are invited to meet at Mrs. Graham's at 3:00 o'clock, to organize. At that time Miss Margery Garstang of Los Angeles, branch secretary of L. T. L., is expected to speak. A good time is assured and we hope to welcome a large company of children; also adults. Don't forget the date, July 21.

Two hundred and eighty-three boys in the pork and crop production club of Washington borrowed money at their local banks on their personal notes to purchase pigs. On March 20 every note had become due and been paid by these young business men.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lyons of La Canada were recent visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. E. L. Ballenger, of 1464 Arden. Mr. and Mrs. Lyons are about to start for the East, where they will spend the summer at Monticello, Iowa, visiting various points of interest on the way.

E. L. Ballenger, foreman of the Glendale Laundry, whose musical compositions are gradually coming into public recognition, is making considerable progress with his enterprise of music, arranging, composing and publishing. His song, "I Never Knew," is becoming quite a favorite at public functions.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell of Ard Eevin is to entertain a large party at her home Friday, at a musical.

OPEN ENGINE MUFFLERS

There is a city ordinance in Glendale prohibiting the operating of motor engines with open mufflers. Notwithstanding this, motor cars pass over the streets daily with open mufflers, making a noise that can be heard blocks distant. The practice that has been followed at garages and elsewhere of operating motorcycle and automobile engines with open mufflers to the extent of making a noise equal to terrific canonading such as would be expected in a fierce battle should be discouraged. If it is necessary to get an engine in good condition by operating the machinery at a high speed with an open muffler there should be a place at some distance from the thoroughfares of the city selected for doing that work.

There have been instances when ladies were passing buildings where this great seemingly unnecessary canonading was going on, and not knowing the cause of the explosions crossed to the other side of the street to avoid passing near to the disturbance.

REDWOOD FOR SIGN POSTS

One of the first organizations to hear the call for financial assistance by the business men of San Francisco for the Lincoln Highway association was the California Redwood association.

It has donated to the Lincoln Highway association, through the California State Automobile association, redwood sign posts for the 1000 miles of this great highway from Salt Lake City into San Francisco, one of the most urgent needs of the road builders.

The selection of redwood for these sign posts was made for a two-fold reason, that redwood is a distinctive California product and for the reason that it has the greatest living power of any known species of lumber.

California being the western terminus of the Lincoln highway makes it fitting that the first thousand miles should be marked with a distinctive California product—the lumber of the big trees.

RESCUE CARS

The United States Bureau of Mines has eight model rescue cars that are rushed to the scene of mining accidents to aid in rescue work. Between accidents these cars tour the country and the scientists in charge teach the miners how to care for their injured comrades.

Recently the bureau received petitions from women along the routes of these cars, asking that classes be formed for their benefit. The request was complied with, and more than 500 women have already been granted "first-aid certificates." They are now qualified to render assistance in case of accidents. They know how to resuscitate men who have been smothered, bind up their wounds, and convert their homes into emergency hospitals.

Incidentally, many of the physicians have supplemented their lectures upon first-aid work with information about homes, sanitation, diet, and other subjects of interest to housekeepers.

AT THE LADDER'S FOOT

On a busy city thoroughfare, where the surging throngs of people wend their way, stood a ladder guarded by a young man. At the top of the ladder his master was at work painting the building against which it leaned. The young man at the ladder's foot kept a firm hold upon his charge, and the serious look in his face was enough to make the passing crowds careful not to jostle him.

As the ladder was being shifted, a passer-by, with a laugh, said to the painter, "Your man, who only stands at ease here, looks as if he had a harder job than yours."

"He has that," answered the painter. "If he were to allow that ladder to slip I should fall to my death. And besides, look at the stream of people passing here. That heavy ladder coming down upon them, would kill many. Yes, sir, my man has a more serious piece of work than I have—there is life in his limbs, and an instant of carelessness might make him guilty of manslaughter. The work that seems easy is often the most responsible, and this is a case of that kind. He is not only holding a ladder; he is protecting many lives."

How great is the number of people who perform very faithfully responsible tasks which seem trivial to the careless observer. But they are not unappreciated by those who know the difference between the easy and the hard duties of life. And "the Master of all good workmen," seeing their steadfast and earnest devotion to duty, is satisfied that they are doing a great work.—Toronto Presbyterian.

TESTS FOR JARS FOR CANNING

The following tests are suggested by the Office Extension Work, North and West, States Relations Service, to determine if jars are defective for canning purposes:

• Screw-top jars—(1) Place top on jar without the rubber. Turn down tight. If the thumb nail can be inserted between top and glass, the top is usually defective. (2) Place rubber and cap in position and screw down lightly. Pull rubber from position; release. If the rubber returns to position between top and jar, the top is defective.

Glass-top jars—(1) Place glass top on jar without rubber. Tap with finger around the outer edge of the top. If the top rocks it is defective. (2) Wire bail placed over the top of cover should go in with a snap, even when tightening lever or clamp spring is up. If it does not, remove ball from tightening lever and bend to make tight. This tightening of ball should be done every year.

SUMMER SCHOOL MILLINERY

Among the innovations that will be introduced this summer at the summer session of the University of California is a department for teaching the millinery art. Dean Hart of the summer school has arranged with a pattern-hat designer of New York to show the girl students the coming styles in millinery, and give practical demonstrations in the art of making becoming hats, with a view to the lowest outlay of money. The university has received many requests from young women for such a course in the summer school, and it promises to be one of the most practical and popular of the studies.

PUPILS AS CENSUS TAKERS

Time was when some of the farmers in the central and western part of the United States could find nothing better to do with their cornstalks than to burn them, but a census of Kankakee County, Illinois, taken recently through the schools, shows that in that locality not a single farmer burned his shocks last spring. Since the county advisor has been talking of the value of cornstalks as a source of material for many products, the farmers have learned to develop a new source of revenue.

A NOVEL REUNION

An interesting and unique event at the University of Kansas recently was called "a transcontinental reunion" of the alumni of the institution. Over 500 telephones were manned by alumni who had come to the reunion in person, and by students of the university who were placed in communication with old graduates who were living at remote points in the United States, and who thus were given a chance to chat with friends and others at the alma mater and thus take part in the festivities of the reunion.

SILICA OUTPUT OVER $1,000,000

Silica (quartz) employed last year for paints, tile, glazes, pottery, woodfiller, wood polish, abrasive soaps, fine filters and other uses, amounted to 243,340 short tons according to data compiled by the U. S. Geological Survey. This product was obtained from quartz veins pegmatites, quartzites, sandstones, sand, tripli and diatomaceous earth in Arizona, California, Nevada, Oregon and fourteen of the eastern states.

A COMMUNITY ADVERTISEMENT

If You Live In a Community

If you have children to educate, if you are interested in local social or religious affairs—if you own or expect to own a home or property in your home town it is to your interest to patronize your local stores and home institutions at all times, provided investigation proves that you can do so to as good advantage as elsewhere. A community is built up from within as well as from without. If Glendale would succeed and grow the citizens will have to boost and co-operate for the good of the town.

LA CRESCENTA

The Dunsmoor Canyon Water company held its eighth annual stockholders' meeting on July 4 at the home of the secretary, Wm. Scheuner. The following officers were elected: T. O. Hall, president; Robert Pollard, vice-president; Wm. Scheuner, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Allen and Mr. Haines complete the board of directors.

Mr. F. M. Scott has moved his bungalow over on the west half of his ten acres on New York and Michigan avenues. The remaining half has been leased to Miss Lentz of Los Angeles and is being managed by Sam Levy under the name of "The L. & L." ranch. Mr. Levy will raise poultry and rabbits.

T. O. Hall is having a new garage constructed to accommodate his recently acquired "Cadillac 8."

Wm. Scheuner had the misfortune a few weeks ago to run a large sliver into his arm which threatened to develop into a severe case of blood-poisoning. He was obliged to visit the Methodist hospital to have the sliver removed. Mr. Scheuner will be able to use his arm again in a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pollard spent the Fourth at their bungalow on New York avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Cookson recently enjoyed a brief visit from their son Ray, of Fullerton.

Mrs. M. L. Thomson spent a few days at Catalina island, accompanied by her son Joe.

Joe Thomson left Tuesday night for Big Pine, where he will resume his work at the Montezuma mine, after a two weeks' vacation visiting friends and relatives in La Crescenta and Los Angeles.

Mr. E. J. Barnes has had some substantial improvements made on his slightly place on New York avenue, in the shape of cement porches. Mr. Barnes will reside here permanently now.

Ignacio Receume visited Los Angeles last Friday to celebrate the occasion being his birthday.

M. W. Koons has rented one of his bungalows to a party from Glendale. The new tenant expects to stay about three weeks.

Mrs. Wm. Scheuner and daughter, Miss M. Scheuner, visited Mrs. A. C. Cobb at the Methodist hospital recently. They report Mrs. Cobb and baby doing nicely.

La Crescenta will soon have the opportunity to witness another home-talent show. Work is going on quietly under the direction of a competent theatrical man. Watch and wait for future announcements.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Smith are again living in La Crescenta, after several months in Pasadena, where they resided after Mr. Smith had met with a serious automobile accident. His friends will be very glad to know that he is on the way to recovery, although improvement in his condition has been very slow.

A hiking party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Wetherbee, Mrs. Cloud, Mrs. Dorothy Cloud, Mrs. Volker, ranger who daily may be seen in La Crescenta and a motorcycle cop that keeps tab on the speeders of Michigan avenue. Those owning Fords take warning.

The home of Mr. A. S. Shilling is now completed. It is an attractive addition to Altura and Los Angeles avenues.

The board of directors of the La Crescenta Water company met at the home of Mr. H. D. Johnson, the president. Regular business was transacted.

The directors of the Goss Canyon Water company met Saturday afternoon, July 8, at the residence of Miss Emily Brown. It was agreed to employ C. J. Anderson to sink a well in the Goss canyon for further development of water.

The people of the La Crescenta valley are glad to learn that the authorities of Glendale intend to improve Glendale avenue from the Verdugo road to Broadway.

Friday evening, July 7, the La Crescenta Improvement association met in the La Crescenta school auditorium, M. H. Bissell presiding in the absence of the president, Mr. Cobb. Mr. Bissell introduced the speakers, Mr. Owen and Mr. Roberts, candidates for supervisor for this district. Their speeches were instructive and entertaining. Then Mr. Fletcher, a pioneer of this valley, spoke on the old times of La Crescenta. From his speech the audience realized the improvement made in La Crescenta in the last twenty years.

Mrs. Clafin and son took a long trip in their Ford, taking Mr. and Mrs. Nettleton, leaving La Crescenta early Saturday morning. They went the shore route to Santa Barbara, stopping a few moments at Carpinteria to greet Ted Hopping, who is spending July with friends, looked up an old Boston friend and paid a short visit. After leaving Santa Barbara we found the roads in wretched condition but pushed on to Santa Maria, where we spent the night; next morning we left for San Luis Obispo, then over a steep, rough grade to Atascadero, where we made a call on Mr. Nettleton, cousin of Mr. Bruce Cody, who is an enthusiastic colonist. They certainly have a beautiful country and beautiful big oaks. That night we spent in Paso Robles; next day we drove over the hills to the ocean and a little town called Cyucers.

Tuesday morning we left for Bakersfield, going across Antelope plain, where there is a network of roads with a signboard, consequently if we had not found signs of life at a large oil pumping station we might be wandering there still. We were directed to Lost Hills; from there it was easy going to Bakersfield, where we put up at the Southern and helped celebrate the Fourth, as the place was in gala attire. Next day we left for home over the Ridge road, arriving in time for supper, tired but happy over seeing so much of the country on so successful a trip.

SUNLAND

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hubbard, of Carpinteria, are spending several days as guests of Capt. and Mrs. T. G. Cushman.

Mr. and Mrs. Badham of Los Angeles were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garner.

Miss Emily Brown and Mrs. L. G. Janvier and the latter's sister, from Philadelphia, spent the weekend at their cottage on Fairmount avenue.

At the present writing a bunch of La Crescenta boys following in the footsteps of their elders are hiking through Big Tejunga to Switzer's Camp. The party consisted of Louie Sherb, Thomas Christie, Walter Clarke and Leland Wise. The commissary department of the party was so well stocked that much apprehension is felt as to whether they will ever return.

Have you read, "Her Husband's Purse," "Isidro," "Alice For Short," "Imperial Germany," or "Flying and Some of Its Mysteries?" If not come to the library and get them.

Mrs. Volker has moved from the old Scott place to her own home on Prospect avenue. Mr. Zozene Escalle has taken Mr. Lewis' place as foreman of the ranch. New improvements will be made on the place by the Los Angeles Investment company.

The Ladies' Aid of the La Crescenta Presbyterian church will give a six o'clock dinner at the church Thursday, July 20. Dinner is twenty-five cents. All are cordially invited. The proceeds to help pay for new piano.

The Misses Dorothy and Marguerite Cloud, Joe Thomson and his friend Will Nitchev, of Big Pine, Calif., attended the performance of "Canary Cottage" on Thursday evening of last week.

Mrs. Mary L. Thomson and son, Joe, spent a part of last week at Catalina.

Joe Thomson returned Tuesday to Big Pine, Calif., after a month's visit with his mother and sister, Mrs. Ralph Haines of New York avenue.

La Crescenta is getting to be quite a civilized community, if you look at it in that light. We have a forest

THE MAN WHO WALKS ALONE

A thousand eager, restless, anxious feet
Pass by him on the street;
His thoughts ascend above their thoughts, as far
As yonder violet star;
He views a different world, another zone,
And therefore walks alone.

The multitude see only things of time,
Its folly, pleasure, crime;
Their gaze is often listless, often cold..

Its object chiefly gold.
His vision goes beyond the seen, the known,

He therefore walks alone.

The many simply hear the rattling wheel
Of factory and mill;
These only to their sordid souls appeal.

And their ambitions fill;
While he discerns the soul's deep undertone,
And therefore walks alone.

The mass of men bemoan their low estate,
And temporize with hate,
Which hangs a sword of Damocles; and yet

They willingly forget
Adversity has blessings all its own,
Says he who walks alone.

How widening, downward is the way
That leads the host astray,
That snare the wayward feet of man and child,

By siren's voice beguiled;
While straight the path that leadeth to a throne,
While he must walk alone.

A Man, a superhuman Man, was born,
As others, yet forlorn

Above all others, and from days of youth

He lived and spoke the truth;
And with a wisdom to the world unknown,

He walked through life alone.

REMEDIES FOR "CHIGGERS"

If a bath in hot water, or in water containing salt or strong soap, is taken within a few hours after exposure in shrubbery and weeds infested with "chiggers," or "red bugs," no ill effects will be experienced. After a long exposure, however, a bath has practically no effect and direct remedies are necessary.

After irritation has set in and small red spots appear the application of a moderately strong solution of ammonia to the affected parts is recommended by the department's entomologists. A supersaturated solution of bicarbonate of soda or common cooking soda or saleratus will afford relief. Liberal applications should be made until the irritation subsides. If the suffering is severe, a dilute tincture of iodine or colloidion should be lightly applied.

GREAT ADVANTAGES

follow naturally with the growth and development of a city. This community will grow in ratio to the amount of trade activity and number of home industries fostered.

Did you ever see a live, growing town without industries? Glendale, as yet, has few live industries,—but more can be secured and the ones now here can be helped to grow.

One of the largest of the present industries is the GLENDALE MILL. This is strictly a Home Concern. The high quality of Window Screens manufactured by this concern is winning the patronage of particular builders in and around Los Angeles on the strength of merit alone. This is certainly advertising Glendale in a most favorable manner.
